Team Leader, mHub Girls4Code
Malawi

“"It is very important for girls to learn how to code because every great future job in every field – art, medicine, you name it – will go to people who can code. If girls want to be part of one of the fastest growing job markets out there they need to jump on board!"
The G20 initiative #eSkills4Girls aims to increase the participation of girls and women in the digital economy by improving their digital skills and employment perspectives. Find out more on eSkills4Girls.org.
